There are two questions that you, the bride, should ask about wedding videography. First, why should I videotape my wedding? and Second, how should I select my videographer?

Why a Wedding DVD is Indispensable. A Wedding DVD will provide a vivid memory and documentation of ALL of the wedding decisions you have made over the past year as you plan your wedding. This includes the invitation, centerpieces, flowers, place cards, dresses, tuxedos, decorations...not to mention the intimate vows, toasts, first dance and cake cutting. An Avista Wedding DVD incorporates these intimate details. Don't cut corners by eliminating the Wedding DVD. You will be amazed at what you miss during your Wedding Day that is captured on video. For example, what was your fiancé doing while you were getting ready with your bridesmaids? (See Testimonials on Avista Video Wedding DVDs below.) Wedding Photos and Videography are each unique and not a substitute for one another.

Which Video Company to Choose? Why Avista? Next, choosing a Videography Company is critical. Are they attentive to detail? Will they show you samples of their work? How long have they been in business? Will they provide you with references? How long will the video take to complete? Avista's policy is to complete the DVD, with custom graphics (see images), within 2-4 weeks — and often the DVD is ready by the time the bride and groom return from their honeymoon! Avista has also been taping Wedding in New Mexico since 1996 with a long list of extremely satisfied customers.

Additional Avista Wedding Video Options. Avista also offers dynamic Bride & Groom "Movie from Photos" of the bride and groom from childhood to courtship to show at the wedding or rehearsal. Plus, Avista has launched its "Bride & Groom Featurette" in which the wedding couple tell the story of how they met, what attracted them to each other, and their hopes and aspirations for the future, illustrated by photos from their courtship.

Below are recent unsolicited testimonials about Avista's 2008 Wedding DVD work.
